Medical Technician in Nuclear Medicine (m/w)

OncoBeta is a manufacturer and service provider of innovative medical solutions targeting at the improvement of the quality of life. Our current field of action is brachytherapy, i.e. the treatment of lesions (tumors, scars, etc.) with radioactivity.
In concrete, OncoBeta currently offers solutions for personalized treatment of non-melanoma skin cancers and keloids. OncoBeta leads the patient from the detection of his/her illness to its cure and integrates all steps of the chain of values (R&D, clinical evaluation, certification, production, logistics, maintenance, marketing, sales, service, etc). As a result, OncoBeta is a stepping stone for career development of motivated individuals of any field of expertise. Joining OncoBeta you will start in a young, dynamic, interdisciplinary and international team maintaining a good working atmosphere and environment directly in Munich, one the best ranged cities to live in Europe.

For the beginning of April 2016, we are searching for a Medical Technician in Nuclear Medicine (m/f).

Main Assignments:

- Coordination of treatments with OncoBeta Patient Treating Centers
- Training of nuclear medicine technicians and physicians
- Documentation of treatments
- Study management, including ethic approvals, etc.
- Active communication with physician network
- Presentation of products in conferences
- Willingness to travel worldwide up to 80% of the time

Required Qualifications:

- Open personality, eloquence, high motivation and willingness to learn
- Independence and experience in researches in internet or over phone with authorities and businesses
- Experience inside hospitals and/or with clinical studies
- Fast writing and perfect spelling and grammar in required languages
- Fluent English and German (writing and speech)
- Power user level in Microsoft Word, PowerPoint and Excel (or equivalents)

Preferred Additional Qualifications:

- Experience with study management (planning, ethical approvals, monitoring, evaluation, etc)
- Experience with quality management systems
- Italian or any Latin language
- Experience in Dermatology, Radiation Therapy, Nuclear Medicine or Plastic Surgery
- Any major European language (French, Spanish, Russian, …)

If this challenging assignment is of your interest we would be happy to arrange a meeting with you. Please send your complete application (letter of motivation, CV and recommendations if available) as PDF by email to Dr. Thomas Wendler at career@oncobeta.com.